9th October 2020

English

This week we continued our own research about endangered animals in our world. The boys proudly finished of their posters and worked on their ICT skills to create a final piece.

It's amazing how much they found out about their animal. The tigers were their favourites as 7 decided to write about them.

Remember to login to bug club to practice their reading.

Spellings

This week we have revised the sound 'ch' spelt ch and tch. Here are some words to practise. We will test these on Monday!

Maths

This week we have been practising telling the time and working out times earlier and later. Keep practising telling the time at home. You can play this game to help you learn:

The Daisy boys are getting more and more confident with their number work. They were actually placing their numbers on a number line and zapping their ones, tens and hundreds. Keep up the good work.

Remember to login to Mathletics for some more practice in their skills.

Topic

This week we learned about the Greek and Persian Wars.
Can you explain why we still remember the Battle of Marathon today?

The London Marathon took place last Sunday.
Do you know what was different about it this year?

Science

This week we learned about how compasses work using magnets. They got to try to make a paperclip magnetic and use it to make their own compass. However, even though the boys were successful in making the paperclip magnetic, we felt they were not strong enough to point to North. 4 of the compasses were very close, the other failed! We got to learn sometimes experiments fail.
