

Good morning,

Don't forget about our Zoom session today at 11.

You will find out who is the Learner of the week as well as having some time to chat together.

I will also start letting you know the Mathlete of the week too!

I am so excited to see you all again, this time you will need a pen and paper with you.

Email me if you need a reminder of the details or if I can help you in anyway. No questions is too silly!
